HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY!

Dear Loyal Friend,

Each year, we look to Mother's Day to memorialize the impact of maternal presence through a donation to support the Nevada Women's Fund. With the global outbreak of COVID-19, this year is different. Like you, we have been watching and learning as the outbreak continues longer than imagined.

Though the uncertainty may be daunting, we are resolute in carrying out the Nevada Women's Fund mission of empowering achievement in women and families. Working remotely, we remain on schedule to fund scholarships for hopeful students in the 2020-2021 academic year. We intend to also provide non-profit grant funding for needed services; however, to better understand and serve community needs, this will happen later in the year.

We are dedicated to staying empowered during times of uncertainty, and we remain committed to the long-term vision of our work. The Nevada Women's Fund pushed through several recessions during the past, and we are now working to overcome the lockdown of 2020. Right now, our focus is to respond with consideration for others, and then to recover and thrive during this challenging time.

Like many organizations, the Nevada Women's Fund remains committed to raising funds to implement vital programs for educational support and family care. The women we serve are in need of this support now more than ever. If you are able, we ask that you make a donation today in honor of your mother, grandmother, aunt, teacher, neighbor, or friend who has been there for you in so many ways.

The maternal presence that listens to and eases your fears and anxiety is important today. Although she passed four years ago, my mother, Pauline, is with me more today than ever. She was, and remains, my anchor whenever I am uncertain.

As we weather this storm together, I invite you to be an anchor for these women and their families by supporting the Nevada Women's Fund.

Nevada Women's Fund makes empowering achievement for Northern Nevada women simple:

- Make a general donation to support Nevada Women's Fund's mission.
- Form an annual scholarship in the amount of $1,500 or more in the name of yourself or someone you would like to honor.
- Establish an endowment with a minimum donation of $10,000, that provides scholarships in perpetuity. Endowments can be built over several years.

Dr. Angie Taylor, former NWF Board member and previous NWF scholarship recipient, and her mother, Coni Taylor, who is also a previous NWF scholarship recipient.

NWF Board member Jill Johnson, with her mother Richelle O'Driscoll, who is a former NWF Board member, and her daughter, Romy Johnson.
